

Germany Adventure

Trace the German Wine Road and celebrate the apple harvest. Then, as fall makes its way toward winter, the smell of pumpkin gives way to spiced mulled wine and the twinkling lights of Christmas markets color the sky. Here are just a few places to enjoy in Germany.

Munich

For two centuries people have flocked to Munich for the most famous beer festival on the planet, and if residents of the world's "beer capital" can throw a party on an average day, you should see them during Oktoberfest! The celebration kicks off with the steed-drawn beer wagons of the city's major breweries, followed by brass bands and ladies dressed in traditional dirndle costumes.

Hotel Recommendation: Eden Hotel Wolff

Stuttgart

It might be odd to see brooms hanging over the doorways of homes but not in Stuttgart in the fall. Here in this famous wine region, the brooms and pine branches signify a seasonal wine room open for business. Inside these local haunts, you'll find spectacular regional cuisine and live entertainment. It's a fantastic off-the-beaten-path experience.

Hotel Recommendation: Hotel Azenberg

Rhine Valley

The Rhine River winds its way through the heart of Germany passed Medieval towns and fairytale castles. Along this "romantic road" are rural villages and timbered houses, cafe-lined squares and vineyards stair-stepping their way to the water's edge. Everywhere you look, the valley is warmed by a gold and orange sunset.

Hotel Recommendation: Hyatt Regency Mainz

German 101

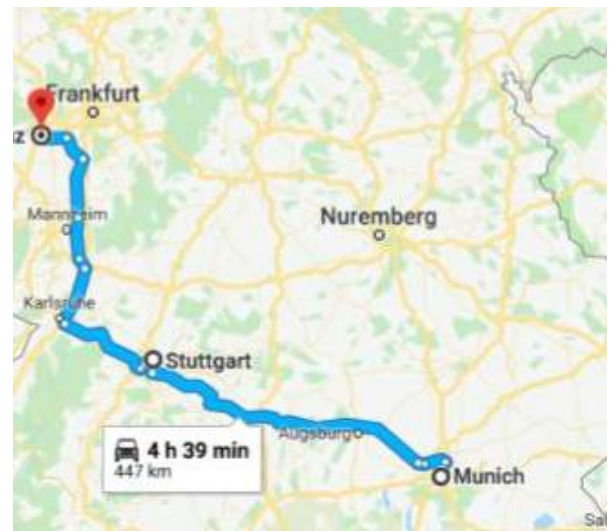

- Hello: Hallo (ha-low)
- Please: Bitte (bit-er)
- Thank you: Danke (dank-ah)
- Very good: Sehr gut (zeer-gaht)
- Yes: Ja (ya)
- No: Nein (neohj)

Expected Weather °F

Jan-Mar	Apr-Jun	Jul-Sep	Oct-Dec
41°	66°	71°	46°

Currency

Euro

To make a booking, please contact:

